Samsung Mirror TV FAQ

How easy is it to install the Mirror TV?

The Samsung LED Mirror TV installs exactly the same as a regular TV. You simply hang it on the wall with a slim profile wall mount and you're all done!

How good is the sound quality?

The frame and glass don't block any of the sound, so you get the same high fidelity sound you'd get from any other flat screen TV.

How good is the picture quality?

Our framed TVs have 4k picture quality with full, vibrant color. Unlike other companies, we combine the brightest, thinnest televisions on the market with the most transparent mirror available to deliver uncompromised picture clarity.

Do I need to use a special wall mount?

The included ultra slim profile wall mount we sell will keep your framed TV within 0.4" of the wall for a hidden, seamless appearance. If you were to use a standard wall mount, it might hang several inches away from the wall.

How do I hide the cables?

For the best installation, string the cables back through the wall to hide them. Alternatively, you can use cable tunneling, which can be painted to match the wall. You can easily find cable tunneling at your local Home Depot or Lowe's.

What's the advantage of buying a complete mirror TV instead of just the glass?

Our framed mirror TV systems are as easy to install as a regular TV and are beautiful pieces of functional art. A custom project where you just buy our glass without the TV will require some DIY work, or hiring a woodworker or cabinetmaker to frame it up.

How can I see the mirror TV in person before buying?

We sell frame and mirror samples so that you can evaluate our products before investing in the full system. When installed, the only visible parts of the TV are the frame and mirror, so once you have seen the samples you know what it will look like. You can search for local installers and showrooms on our website.

VanityVision FAQ

How easy is it to install your VanityVision TV?

The installation is easy, simply cut a recessed area in your wall and hang the mirror with the included hardware. Alternatively, you can buy the mirror by itself for a custom DIY project.

What kind of sound quality does it have?

The speakers of the TV are clearly audible from around the edges if you can leave a slight gap of about 1/4" from the wall for the sound to escape. Optionally, you can install wireless speakers or ceiling recessed speakers.

How good is the picture quality?

The VanityVision TVs are LED displays and the mirror allows a large amount of light to pass straight through the mirror, giving you the best possible video quality in 4k resolution.

How do I hide the cables?

The cables for a vanity mirror TV are typically hidden behind the walls by an electrician or A/V installer. Alternatively, you can use cable tunneling to string them in a channel that can be painted to match the wall.

What is the advantage of buying the full VanityVision system instead of just the mirror?

Our VanityVision Mirror TV systems are ready to be installed without extra work. You can mount it on the wall, or a recessed area can be made for the TV and mount the mirror like a regular mirror on the wall. A custom project where you just buy our glass will require hiring a contractor to install it, which can cost more time and money.

How is it installed?

We have hundreds of dealers across the USA & Canada, and many overseas.

How can I see the product?

Our dealers have samples of our products, and you can see the products in action on our video gallery. We sell frame and mirror samples, so you can order a small piece first to try out before investing in the full product.

How fast can I get it?

We ship the mirrors immediately and the complete systems take about two weeks to manufacture.

Where can the TV be positioned behind the mirror?

When you order the system, you can specify the exact location you want it to be behind the mirror.

2017 - The Year of the Smart Mirror

Michael Teeuw of Xonay Labs wasn't expecting the enormous explosion of interest when his Smart Mirror project went viral on Reddit. It started with a standard PC monitor, basic frame, Raspberry Pi and a two way mirror. Since then, he has developed open source software and a website www.magicmirror.builders which is the definitive source for information on the Raspberry Pi Smart Mirror. The site provides a single, special line of code which installs the most popular Smart Mirror apps to a Raspberry Pi computer. Numerous software developers have since jumped on the opportunity to program their own modules for the site, which add features to the Pi. These recent advancements have streamlined Smart Mirror technology, making it easily accessible to both businesses and individuals.
